

Janet Joseph

For the past 24 years, Janet Joseph has been an ownership partner in Dunnage Engineering, Inc. a Brighton manufacturing company. The company is in the business of design, development and manufacture of material handling systems for the automotive industry; specifically durable, returnable fleet systems.

Janet's community activities have been concentrated on Workforce Development. For ten years, she was a member of the county's Workforce Development Council. In 1994, Janet became the chair of the newly formed School To Work Committee under the sponsorship of the Workforce Board and in 1995 accepted the position of Workforce Development Council Chairperson a position that she held until 1998. Most recently, her efforts have been focused on the development of a regional technical training facility under the auspices of the M-TEC system, and she currently serves on the Livingston M-TEC governing board.

Some of Janet's other community activities have supported Workforce Development as well. In 1995, she became a founding member of the Livingston Child Care Coordinating Council with the goal of developing quality dependent care for county employees. Janet currently serves as chair of the Council. She also served as a Trustee of Cleary College, the county's four year post secondary institution.

Janet is a 1966 graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a B.A. in Medical Technology and is a graduate of the Cleary College Leadership Livingston program.